Promising Practices Project School Nomination Form – 1999/2000

- The approval of the school principal and superintendent should be sought before someone else nominates a school for this project.
- Your answers to the narrative questions may be relatively brief. If you are chosen for a site visit by the project team, you may be asked to share additional information at that time.
- You may type directly on page 1 of this form and then use a typewriter or computer to retype and answer questions 1-5.

Please use up to 5-10 pages to answer questions 1-5. Refer to the descriptions of the Best Schools Action Points and the criteria for selecting a Promising Practice school when answering these questions.

1. Describe the specific practice (or practices) the school is using that is leading to improved student learning or other valued educational outcomes.
2. Provide evidence that the practice is having an impact on student learning or other desired educational outcomes.
4. Describe the professional development process through which teachers were first introduced to this practice and the ways in which they are supported to continually improve their practice and evaluate its impact on student learning.
5. Describe the costs associated with the start-up or introduction of this practice into the school. Also document costs considered to be essential to the sustainability of this practice, including additional staff, materials, equipment, outside consultation, staff development, and the like.
6. Give examples of relationships that teachers, administrators, or involved community members have with other educational communities as evidence of the school's willingness to establish such collegial relationships if it is chosen as a Promising Practice School.

Send five copies of the completed nomination form with a cover letter from the person submitting the nomination to:
